FUNDRAISING BENEFIT

in support of Andrea Novak who's fighting

Astrocytoma Grade IV (Type 4)

Andrea Austin Novak, daughter of Ellis and Joy Austin, East Grand Forks Residents, has the remains, about 20% in non-surgical areas, of a glioma known as an Astrocytoma Grade IV. This is an extremely aggressive type 4, almost as bad as they come. These are non-genetic, and as far as today's research knows they can happen to anyone at any time and as the doctor has told us, for lack of better words, it's pure bad luck getting it. Because of the reach and breadth of this type of glioma, Andrea has been told that in a typical healthy person there would be a 1 to 2 year lifespan and if she were to start an aggressive radiation and chemotherapy regiment, then we may be able to extend that to 3 to 4 years.

This is not a hard number, as the aggressiveness is so unpredictable that anything is possible.
